Discouraging Grain and Labor Reports Again Affect Speculative

Confidence Unfavorably—The Steel Issues Continue to Be Heavy

NEW YORK, July 16.—During the earlier part of the day the stock market showed an actually better tone than it has presented in the last fortnight, but before moon speculative confidence was again materially disturbed by reason of a sharp advance in both wheat and corn. The betterment in the market in the early dealings was directly attributable to the meteorological conditions in the corn grawing sections.

and their families as have voluntarily abandoned employment, and the question of the strike appears to have narrowed down to a mere test of endurance. The present difficulty is singular in this respect that, apart from a few media of expressions of opinion, condemnation of the policy pursued by the labor union and operatives is general. It has been sufficiently proved within recent years that with the present high state of the country's prosperity, any reasonable demands of labor will be acceded to, but on the resent occasion it has been abundantly emonstrated that the strike has been sufficiently and reasonable demands of labor will be acceded to, but on the resent occasion it has been abundantly emonstrated that the strike has been sufficiently and indolence, with six of the country of the policy pursued by the labor union and operatives is general. expressions of opinion, cendemnation of the policy pursued by the labor union and operatives is general. It has been sufficiently proved within recent years that with the present high state of the country's prosperity, any reasonable demands of labor will be acceded to, but on the present occasion it has been abundantly demonstrated that the strike has been forced by a combination of arrogance, ignorance, and indelence, with which the misguided strikers need not expect same public opinion to sympathize.

Foreign houses traded quite actively in the local market, but the operations on this account were nearly altogether on arbitrage. The London market was heavier in the earlier part of the day, but a smart rally followed, and American stocks participated fully in the improvement. A recovery of about 1 per cent in consols within the last twenty-four hours was an interesting feature of the London market. The course of prices in the local market furnished profitable opportunities for arbitraging transactions, and the purchases on the account footed up fully 50,000 shares of stocks. The local stock market movements appeared to be governed altogether by the Western meteorological conditions, and opinions regarding the labor difficulty in the steel industry.

The money market continued easy and

by common impulses, and there was little or no news or gossip bearing upon particular stocks. The general situation was not one which could be counted upon to incide active outside interest in the trading, and in fact commission houses commonly reported a very limited business. The professional element sold stocks freely, both on account of the advance in the grain market and also upon the theory that the recovery from yesterday's low level had attained normal proportions. As regarded special movements, it might be noted that the local traction issues were all notably strong, with especial notivity appearing in Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Manhattan Railway. Important contracts in relation to the electrical equipment of the Manhattan Railway were let today. Others conspicuous features of the market and leaders in its varying movements were St. Paul, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Denver and Rio Grande, and the Atchison shares. In connection with the movements in St. Paul and Union Pacific it was reported that the final agreement upon the various controversies grawing out of the Northern Pacific incident of some weeks ago had been signed.

The anthracite securities were fairly strong yesterday, closing the day with little. If any, not loss for the session, the Reading and Eric securities are both considered good purchases by some of the shrw wd market people, their varnings prospects being excellent.

Sugar was one of the strong features of the market yesterday, making an advance to 128 carly in the day, and holding its own well. The street heard the rumor that there is to be an increase in the dividend on the stock and was included by the feature of the known fact that the trust is earning more money this year than it ever did before. At the same time, the wise people were unable to explain a cut of half a cent a pound in the price of the content of the price of the content of the price of the content of the price of the price for granulated sugar is only $35, or 15 points lower than the trust is meeting the cut secretly.

S7,000,000 net.

The outlook for the St. Louis Southwestern is excellent. The report of the line for eleven months has been published. It indicates that the year's record for the company will show that out of the net earnings of $3,000,000 about $200,000 was paid for betterments, $800,000 interest on the first mortgage bonds, and $300,000 interest on the income bonds. This will leave in round numbers $1,500,000. The amount will be greater rather than less. The first preferred stock is $20,000,000, and the dividend on this at the rate of 5 per cent would be $1,000,000, so that the surplus for the common stock for the year over a dividend on the preferred (not paid) was about $500,000, or a trifle over 3 per cent. The preferred stock is selling below 60 and the common below 30. Both will be bought by bargain hunters on the breaks this summer, and it is entirely likely that they will sell very much higher when the market recovers.

THE CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET. Corn Opens Lower and Advances on

CHICAGO, July 16 .- Wheat was active, opening lower in sympathy with coarse grains and the Pad decline at Liverpool. Later on reports of damage from heat in South Dakota and southern Minneso-ta alarmed shorts and a cent raily followed. There was good local investment. Commission houses were moderate buy-buying and short covering.

Commission houses were moderate buyers. The falling off in the Southwestern movement was also a factor. Primary receipts were about the same as last year. There was no cash business done here; the scaboard reported twenty-three loads. Corn opened weak under scattered commission house liquidation on showers and prospects for more in the Southwest. The decline was evidently inviting to local bears, who came into the market and covered heavily. There was also replacement of long lines sold out on the late advance. Late in the day pit traders became good buyers on the strength in wheat and prices were marked up quickly. The cash demand is very slow.

Oats opened lower with corn. There was scattered commission house liquidation, but local bulls were inclined to buy. This steadied prices, and when other grains advanced they followed quickly.

The very liberal hog movement in the West caused a further decline in provisions. Labor troubles also had a depressing influence on the market. Today's trade was mainly between packers. A leading local operator sold a line of October ribs. The cash trade was moderate.

LOCAL BUSINESS NOTES.

Real Estate and Securities Discuss ed by Washington Financiers. Charles E. Early, real estate broker: Business during the past six months in real estate has been much better than at any time before in recent years, Transactions of moderate size have been numerous, and important deals have been not infrequent. A considerable number of new people of wealth have come to the city to make their homes and many them have bought real estate. I look for an active market during the coming months, also, though at the moment the hot weather has had a depressing effect, which may continue during July and Au-gust. People interested in purchases and sales are in Europe or in the Northern resorts and it is almost impossible t reach them, even if they are willing to be bothered with business. The brokers, too, are many of them away for the sumin a number of important pending trans during the coming few weeks.

C. J. Bell, President of the American Security and Trust Company, left the city Monday and sailed for Europe yesterday for a two months' vacation. His place will be taken during his absence by Vice President Henry F. Blount, who has just returned from a six months' sojourn abroad.

People concerned with the financial affairs of the Washington Traction and Electric Company are looking forward to August I as likely to be an interesting date with the company. The interest on the City and Suburban 5 per cent bonds will be due on that day, and the question is being asked if the company will pay the interest, or take another step in the direction suggested by Receiver McDermott in an interview the other day, by defaulting on the payment. The bonds are $1,550,000, and the semi-annual interest at the rate of 5 per ceat is $3,750. Default in this interest would be a very different thing from the default in the interest on the colateral bonds, which occurred recently. It would necessitate the foreclosure of the City and Suburban and its sale under the hammer to the highest bidder. Despite Mr. McDermott's published views on the subject, some conservative people do not believe that the controlling interests intend to allow any default. They seem inclined to the opinion that his remarks were made with the idea of getting straggling bondholders that have not signed the bondholders agreement to come in.

a smart raily followed, and American stocks participated fully in the improvement. A recovery of about 1 per cent in consols within the last twenty-four hours was an interesting feature of the Loudon market. The course of prices in the local market furnished profitable opportunities for arbitraging transactions, and the purchases on the account footed up fully 50,000 shares of stocks. The local stock market movements appeared to be governed altogether by the Western meteorological conditions, and opinions regarding the labor difficulty in the steel in dustry.

The money market continued easy and showed indications of further relaxation. All the railway traffic returns submitted made highly gratifying showings, conspicuously the Missouri, Kansas and Texas companies. As has been the case for some time, market movements appeared to be determined by common impulses, and there was little or no news or goesip bearing upon particular stocks. The general situation was not one which could be counted upon to include a softwe outside interest in the traditional receiving that has been expected well all over the list over the list
